DEMOCRATS TO HOLD NATIONAL RALLY TO DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Will Give Raskob's Opponents Target At Which To Shoot

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—A national Democratic rally—the first since the memorable campaign of 1928—has been called to meet in Washington on March 5, the day after congress adjourns, to consider party problems and lay plans for 1932.

The call for the meeting, which is to include members of the national committee and the party leaders in and out of congress was issued by Chairman John J. Raskob, for whom the rabid Southern drys have been gunning for a long time. He has decided to give his critics a chance to shoot at him in the open.

The purposes of the March meeting were outlined by Chairman Raskob as follows:

"The meeting is to receive reports of the splendid accomplishments secured during the past eighteen months by the fine organization in Washington built up under the able direction and leadership of J. M. Shouse, chairman of our executive committee, and to discuss plans and policies to govern our activities during the next fifteen months."

There will be, in addition, Chairman Raskob said, a review of the financial situation of the party, which, from almost any standpoint, isn't so good. The party is approximately $320,000 in the "red." It owes Chairman Raskob personally $225,000 and the County Trust Co. of New York, some $400,000 more or notes which Chairman Raskob and his friends endorsed.

The formal language of the call, however, does not tell the whole.

DISTRESS SIGNALS PROVING MYSTERY

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Three mysterious SOS signals intercepted by a channel steamer advising of a liner in distress 1,000 miles off the west Irish coast and carrying 399 passengers today puzzled maritime authorities.

French and British wireless stations immediately sought to communicate with the stricken vessel, but were unable to establish contact. The operator of the cross-channel steamer Engadine, who intercepted the distress calls, was unable to catch the name of the vessel, distinguishing only the last two letters "LS."

The Engadine was enroute from Folkestone to Boulogne and she picked up the calls for help. Shipping companies and radio stations failed to intercept the signals, and Lloyd's shipping offices also were without information.

FOUR RECOVER FROM EFFECT OF BROMINE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—Four persons, including three instructors and a woman student, who were overcome by bromine gas while working in a chemistry laboratory at Ohio State University here, were reported to be recovering today in University Hospital.

The gas, which is considered to be poisonous if a large amount of it is inhaled, was released when a five-pound bottle of the liquid chemical was broken in the room in which nearly fifty students were working.

Those overcome were Clarence Brenner, 22, of Holland, Mich., graduate assistant; Leo Gungung, 27, graduate assistant; Claude Schmitt, 25, laboratory assistant, and Miss Ruth Dwyer, 29, of Columbus, a student.

REPORT 3,000 DEAD IN MINE

LONDON, Feb. 11.—A heavy death toll was feared today as the result of a violent explosion in the Fushun mines in Manchuria, according to dispatches to the evening newspapers here.

Early reports said 3,000 miners were trapped by the blast.

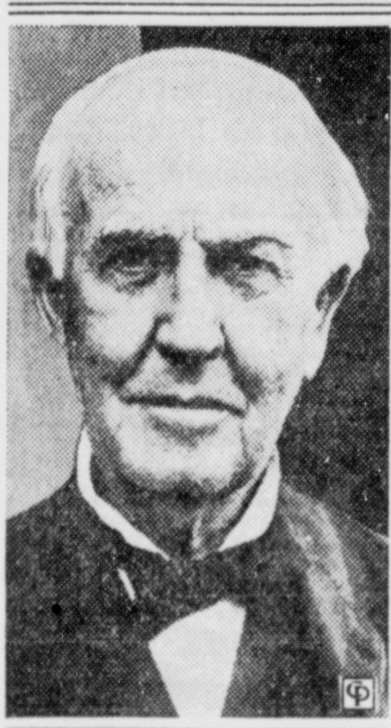

TWENTY-THREE WITNESSES ARE CALLED FOR DAUGHERTY TRIAL

WASHINGTON, C. H. O., Feb. 11.—Twenty-three witnesses, among them, O. C. Gray, state superintendent of banking, today were to start testifying in the trial of Mal S. Daugherty, former president of the defunct Ohio State Bank, charged with mishandling funds of the institution.

First witnesses in the often-delayed trial, were to be called following the opening statements of opposing counsel. The jury which will decide whether or not the former bank president is guilty was completed yesterday.

EDISON MUST "TAKE IT EASY"

Famous Inventor, 84 Wednesday "Only" Works
Ten Or Twelve Hours A Day Now

THOMAS A. EDISON

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 11.—Thomas A. Edison, world famous inventor, whose 84th birthday was celebrated here today by the formal dedication of a bridge spanning the Caloosahatchee River, has not been feeling any too well of late. His condition, however, is in no sense serious but he finds he must carefully guard his health and conserve his energy.

An indefatigable worker, Mr. Edison has been forced to cut his working hours to ten and twelve hours a day. A year ago he worked fully fourteen hours a day to work. The time when he worked sixteen hours a day, and even longer.

Mr. Edison is afflicted with a rather weak stomach. For the past six years he has been on a milk diet. He has been subsisting on a glass of milk every two hours and has abstained from meat and vegetables by one of his old "cronies,"

It is understood on good authority that last Thursday the eminent surgeon and dietician, Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, superintendent of a Battle Creek, Michigan, sanitarium, called on Mr. Edison at Fort Myers and prescribed a new diet. Edison, however, has so far refused to change from his diet of milk exclusively.

Mr. Edison finds it difficult for him to keep on his feet for any great length of time. That explains why he has been seen in a reclining chair a good deal of late.

The chair, similar to those seen on the boardwalks at Atlantic City and Palm Beach, was given to him on his last birthday by his wife, Mrs. Mina Miller Edison. He is wheeled in it daily from his home across the road to his laboratory where he is experimenting with golden rods, a plant from which he hopes to extract a grade of rubber that could be grown in any climate and which would be of incalculable value to the United States government in the event of a national emergency.

The famous inventor looked to be in fairly good physical condition last night when he was driven from his estate to attend a dinner given by one of his old "cronies," Harvey S. Firestone, the manufacturer. Also present at the dinner, which was private, was Mrs. Edison, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Nichols, relatives of the Edisons, Roger Firestone, son of the manufacturer and Cyrus H. K. Curtis, the publisher.

Mr. Edison walked across the hotel lobby with a slow step. His shoulders were stooped and he seemed considerably older than he did a year ago. He was, nevertheless, as cheerful and genial as ever.

COMMITTEE TORN BY PROPOSAL TO REPEAL STATE PROHIBITION

PRINCE'S PARTNER

Here is Miss Eleanor Nichols, of Newport, R. I., chosen by the Prince of Wales as his dancing partner when the latter visited Balboa, Canal Zone, on his tour of Latin-American nations. Miss Nichols, daughter of Commander Newton L. Nichols, of the Balboa naval radio station, also danced with Prince George on the same evening, a thrill enough to last the average American girl a lifetime.

STERILIZATION IS AGAIN BEFORE OHIO SENATE; SEE FIGHT

Another Bill Would Limit Tax Levies
To Twelve Mills

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—Friends of a bill providing for sterilization of feeble-minded and epileptics had the satisfaction today of seeing the measure reach the floor of the state senate.

Approval of the bill introduced by Senator V. D. Emmons (R) of Akron, early in the session was voted by the senate health committee yesterday and the measure was at once recommended for passage.

Opponents, including several religious groups, immediately started polling senators in an attempt to defeat the proposal when it comes to a vote as soon as its author, now recovering from an operation, returns to his legislative tasks.

A second legislative attempt to remove highway costs from real estate and place the burden on the traffic was expected to be made this afternoon by Senator William H. Herner (D) of Monroeville.

A bill he plans to introduce will prohibit county commissioners from levying taxes on real estate to build roads. Any county road money would come from the county's share of the gasoline tax, he said.

Herner introduced a bill yesterday to place a 12-mill limitation on the taxation of all real property, slashing the present limitation of three mills.

Abolition of the position of county farm agent, which he claims is unnecessary and actually operates against the best interests of the farmer, was asked in another Herner bill submitted yesterday.

Farm Bureau officials expressed confidence today that the bill cannot pass the senate.

Prohibition of the sale or use of fireworks is provided in a bill introduced by Senator Paul P. Yoder, (D), of Dayton. It would be enforced with a $100 fine or ninety-day jail term for violations.

Horse-thief Protective Association, and other mutual protective organizations, would be again allowed to incorporate in a bill presented by Senator Robert A. Taft (R) of Cincinnati, to put back on the statute a law repealed last biennium.

Sensor Roy J. Gillen (R) of Wellston, who already has presented a resolution asking that a committee be named to investigate the state industrial relations department, introduced another yesterday providing for the appointment of a commission of nine members to study the state penal and prison problem.

Nippert Resolution Brings Debate But No Decision

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—A ruffled and debate-torn house judiciary committee juggled the prohibition question gingerly today without the slightest indication of what disposal it plans to make of the delicate subject.

Late into last night, the committee argued and wrangled with much ado over the Nippert resolution, proposing repeal of the state prohibition amendment. But the debate ended nowhere, except to place the matter on the shelf again temporarily.

Additional hearings were expected before any definite action is taken by the committee. About 200 persons jammed the conference room where the committee took up the prohibition subject.

Supporters of the resolution asserted that Ohioans are dissatisfied with the existing situation resulting from prohibition laws. They explained that they stand for "true temperance" and are opposed to a return of the saloon.

Opponents insisted that the Crabbie dry law and other state prohibition enforcement measures would be nullified if the prohibition amendment to the state constitution was repealed. Friends of the Nippert resolution took issue with this contention. They argued that even if the dry amendment to the state constitution was repealed, the state dry laws would continue operative as long as the eighteenth amendment remains in the federal constitution.

Prohibition advocates who addressed the committee insisted that prohibition "is here to stay." They predicted that if the wet-dry issue is again submitted to a state-wide referendum vote, the drys will win by a large margin.

Opponents of the Nippert resolution took particular exception to the provision in the resolution for a referendum vote at the polls next November. They declared that if Ohioans desire repeal of the dry amendment to the state constitution.

ONE KILLED IN SEWER CAVE-IN

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11.—An unidentified man was killed and two others were injured here today when a shale covering of a large intercepting sewer construction caved in, pinning the men beneath.

The injured men were Frank Moachina, 49, who sustained a broken leg, and Carl Fedele, 21, who suffered lacerations about the head. The two men were rescued by Foreman Chieffek Elias, who collapsed after he had liberated the men.

The two injured men and Elias were taken to St. Luke's Hospital for treatment. An effort to identify the dead man was made by police.

The cave in took place while the men were working 39 feet from ground and 39 feet from a vertical shaft.

JEWELER'S HOME IS WRECKED BY BOMB

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Renewed efforts to halt the recent wave of bomb outrages were made by police today after the $100,000 residence of Jesse Marshall, wealthy jeweler, was partially wrecked by a dynamite bomb in the suburb of Glen Ellyn last night.

The bomb did damage estimated at $5,000. The new residence was still under construction, and Marshall laid the bombing to labor trouble.

INDICTED IN BIGGEST BANK CRASH

Climaxing a state investigation into the closing of the Bank of United States in New York City, largest ever to fail in America, indictments have been voted against eight of its officials, most important of whom are: Left, C. Stanley Mitchell, chairman of the board; right, Isidor Kresel, top general counsel; Bernard K. Marcus, center, president; Saul Singer, below, executive vice president. Kresel, who finds himself a defendant in this case, is conducting a probe of another sort, trying to obtain indictments as special counsel for the appellate court's investigation into the lower courts of New York.

DROUGHT RELIEF MEASURE HAS MET OPPOSITION IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Enactment of the compromise $20,000,000 drought relief measure, a bill to cash the soldier's bonus and $4,500,000,000 in appropriations bills constituted the administration's legislative program for the remainder of the "lame duck" session, it was announced today. Night sessions were ordered to speed action.

The drought relief measure, already accepted by Democratic leaders, struck a snag in the senate, where it met opposition from insurgents in both parties. It was condemned for abandoning urban refugees of the unemployment wave, and those rural inhabitants who lack the necessary security for government loans. In the end, it will be approved by congress but not before the insurgents make it an issue for the next campaign.

The soldier bonus question was being arbitrated at both ends of the capital, with the legislators hoping to reach some agreement with the President. It was quite possible congress would enact a bill, paying the present cash value of the bonus certificates, but permitting those who wished to hold the certificates until maturity.

This proposition has the greatest support and may possibly be approved by the President.

The outlook on appropriation bills was none too optimistic, although administration leaders insisted all would be enacted before March 4.

The failure of a single bill would necessitate a special session of the new congress as the government departments are conducted on annual appropriations.

Only one of the eleven necessary supply bills has been enacted into law, while but eighteen legislative days remain before the lame duck session ends. Six appropriation bills have passed both branches and sent to conference. Two more have passed the house and are pending in the senate. One is under debate in the house now and the last, the second deficiency bill, is being drafted.

The interior department bill was tied up in the senate, because of the controversy over drought relief and a battle over federal aid for Indian tribes.

Final action on the interior bill will leave nine other appropriations bills to be passed before March 4.

Dr. O. H. Thomas, Sandusky County health commissioner, who discovered the scarlet fever while an examination was being conducted for small pox, today resulted in the almost complete isolation of the village of Green Springs, a health resort of 500 population, four miles southeast of here.

PORTIAS BARRED

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Barring of women from membership in the bar association of the city of New York, continued in effect today. After arguing for almost three hours last night, members of the association voted not to admit women.

POLICE ARREST 100 STUDENTS; REPORT LIQUOR IS SEIZED

Prominent Social Group
Involved; Planned "Hop"

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 11.—One hundred students were reported arrested and quantities of bonded liquor seized in raids by local police on five of the oldest and largest fraternity houses on the University of Michigan campus here today.

According to police, the liquor was the annual supply for the J-hop week end. The raids were made on search warrants based on information said to have been supplied by a bootlegger's runner arrested while delivering liquor to one of the houses.

It was the second so-called "liquor scandal" to sweep the university campus in the past two weeks. Three alleged campus bootleggers, two of them students, were arrested a fortnight ago and are awaiting trial. The latter incident also caused a sensation here.

The hundred students were taken to police stations following the raids and later were released on their personal recognizance to appear for arraignment this morning on charges of violating the state prohibition laws.

The raids were made in a series starting at 3 o'clock this morning. As the raiders gained entrance to the different fraternity houses, they routed students from their beds and forced them to dress.

In many cases, the raiders reported, quantities of alleged liquor were found in sleeping rooms, apparently the property of individuals. In others, stocks were found in basements of the houses, ostensibly community property.

The fraternities, all of which have large alumni representations throughout the country, are alleged by police to be the Delta Kappa Epsilon, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, the Kappa Sigma, the Phi Delta Theta and the Theta Delta Chi.

ATTEMPT TO HONOR PULASKI FAILURE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—The anniversary of the death of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski, Polish hero of the Revolutionary War, will not become a legal holiday in Ohio, it seemed definitely determined today.

Though harshly censuring state senators for their failure yesterday to vote for his resolution making Oct. 11 a day of memorial in the schools, Senator Joseph N. Ackerman (R) of Cleveland today abandoned hopes of passing the measure in either the house or the senate this biennium.

Sensor Ackerman said he was "extremely disappointed" at the result of yesterday's vote. Only Senator Laurence R. Norton (R) of Cleveland, voted with Ackerman for passage of the resolution. All other senators were silent on the roll call.

ILLINOIS HOUSE IS AGAINST DRY LAW

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 11.—A showdown fight between wets and drys in the senate was predicted today after the house of representatives at midnight last night passed the O'Grady bill to repeal the Illinois prohibition laws.

The bill was passed by a vote of 91 to 56 and will go to the state senate next week where the liberals are claiming a twenty-seven vote, more than the majority. The dry element, however, was mobilizing its forces today to kill the move in the senate vote.

LLOYD BABY GAINS; STILL AT HOSPITAL

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 11.—Harold Lloyd Jr., incubator baby of the film comedian and Mildred Davis Lloyd, has gained another two and one-half ounces in weight, physicians at Good Samaritan Hospital announced today.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd celebrated the eighth anniversary of their wedding yesterday by visiting the child at its incubator home. The child now weighs three pounds, five and one-half ounces and doctors say he is doing very well.

HEALTH RESORT IS NOT VERY HEALTHY

FREMONT, O., Feb. 11.—Discovery of an epidemic of scarlet fever while an examination was being conducted for small pox, today resulted in the almost complete isolation of the village of Green Springs, a health resort of 500 population, four miles southeast of here.

Dr. O. H. Thomas, Sandusky County health commissioner, who discovered the scarlet fever while examining students in the Green Creek Twp. school, was in the village today, conferring with officials as to the advisability of compelling the inoculation of every resident in the community.

POSTPONE RITES

WELLSTON, O., Feb. 11.—A funeral planned for today for Walter Wykle, local school janitor will not be held — at least not today.

Wykle became critically ill several days ago and lapsed into a coma which physicians mistook for death.

After funeral arrangements had been completed, Wykle rallied and was reported to be recovering.

This procedure is observed as a protection to the registered Scouts in good standing and to the official outfitter. In some cases the outfitter can make the proper identification because he has the complete list of Greene County Boy Scouts and their adult leaders.

Regular meetings of the Xenia District Scout committee will be held in the future in the office of the superintendent of schools in Central High School, on the first Monday of the month at 7 p. m. March 2, in the date for the next meeting.

ADVICE TO A LOVER
Oh, if you love her,
Show her the best of you;
So you will move her
To bear with the rest of you.
Coldness and jealousy
Cannot but seem to her
Signs that a tempest lurks
Where was sunbeam to her.
Patience and tenderness
Still will awake in her
Hopes of new sunshine,
Though the storm break for her:
Love, she will know, for her,
Like the blue firmament,
Under the tempest lies
Gentle and permanent.
Nor will she ever
Gentleness find the less
When the storm overblown
Leaveth clear kindness.
Deal with her tenderly,
Skylike above her,
Smile on her waywardness,
Oh, if you love her!

FIVE INDICTED HERE MONDAY PLEAD GUILTY WHEN ARRAIGNED

Of seven persons indicted by the January grand jury Monday, who were arraigned in Common Pleas Court Tuesday afternoon, five entered pleas of guilty, while Judge R. L. Gowdy assigned trial dates for two who pleaded not guilty. The court deferred passage of sentences in the cases of those who entered guilty pleas.

February 20 was fixed as the trial date for Charles Randall, 18, of Leaman St., who pleaded not guilty to burglary and larceny in connection with the burglary of the Frank Fletcher grocery, 416 W. Second St., January 2, in which a large quantity of foodstuffs and tobacco was stolen.

Ralph Gorman, 21, of 152 Center St., indicted for receiving stolen property and for furnishing liquor to minors as an outgrowth of the same robbery, pleaded not guilty and will be tried February 27.

Delbert Johnson, 19, of W. Second St., also indicted for burglary and larceny as a sequel to this burglary, pleaded guilty.

Carey Storer, 18, Virgil Hamilton, 18, and Lawrence E. Johnson, 21, indicted for burglary and larceny, each pleaded guilty. The trio is alleged to have stolen two buckets of candy from a truck in a garage of The Eavey Co. wholesale grocery firm, December 16.

HONOR NEW CITIZEN AT LINCOLN DINNER OFFERED BY W. R. C.

Mrs. Nettchen Mancini, 118 S. Detroit St., who recently became a naturalized citizen of the United States, was presented a silk flag by the Lewis Women's Relief Corps, this city, at a program presented following the annual Lincoln Day dinner of the corps in the G. A. R. Hall, Court House, Wednesday noon. The presentation was made by Mrs. G. H. Fuller, of the local corps.

Mrs. Mancini, who is a German by birth, became a citizen of the United States at the time of her marriage to the late W. B. Davidson, this city. Following Mr. Davidson's death she was married to an Italian but upon his death returned to this country and has been located here two years, having recently become naturalized again. She is planning to return to Italy this summer on a visit.

Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, gave an interesting address on Abraham Lincoln following a two course dinner served by members of the W. R. C. Sixty guests, including Civil War Veterans, county commissioners and other guests, were seated at tables attractively decorated with flags.

Civil War veterans, who were guests at the dinner included: T. V. Illiffe, Cedarville; I. T. Cummins, Jamestown; Robert Spahr, C. W. Wilson and William I. Smith, Xenia, Mrs. Christine Bryson, a representative from the W. R. C., Washington, C. H., was also a guest at the dinner.

An appeal from the ruling denying her motion for a new trial will be pressed by Miss Devoe, Attorney William Heirne said.

Judge William C. Doran passed sentence on Miss Devoe, sending her to jail for eighteen months as part of a five year probationary term. The judge declared that in his opinion Miss Devoe had been proved guilty of the thirty-four counts of grand theft on which the jury had acquitted her. He further stated that the jury had been generous in finding guilt on only one count.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God; therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not.—I John, III, 1.

AN UNPRECEDENTED CALAMITY

Hunger is such an unusual thing in this land of plenty, that many of our people can't realize just what it means in the drought afflicted regions. The idea that people are suffering in 21 states for lack of ordinary food, seems something incomprehensible to our folks.

Those things happen in countries like Russia where they have political upheavals and devastating wars. But we have had nothing of the kind in America. We have raised abundant crops practically every year since the first settlers landed on our shores.

Now we see a different situation, and a very peculiar one. While there is a surplus of certain crops in certain sections, in many localities the unputting sun with its fierce rays so scorched and seared the land, that a host of people who depend on the products of their own fields for support, suddenly found their customary supplies exhausted. Their cellars and store-houses, usually well stocked with nourishing products, are empty today. With probably 1,000,000 being fed before spring opens, we are face to face with a calamity new in our experience.

The most serious aspect of it is the effect on these people's general health. Half fed people will survive the winter, if they don't get sick. But their powers of resistance are low. If influenza of the more severe type should get a foothold in such localities, it would sweep off many of these poorly nourished people. Other disease infections may be still more of a peril.

Such a situation is very unlikely to happen again in the near future. Two such rainless summers will not come together. The people who were thus caught without food, will not be likely to get into such a hole soon. They will remember this experience, and be sure they are raising enough to hold them through the winter. But they face a dismal prospect until the new crops ripen, and the people must be very generous to them.

NOTHING AMBIGUOUS

There is nothing ambiguous in the reply by President Hoover to the threat by some of the members of the senate that they will force a special session of congress unless the chief executive and the house of representatives consent to an appropriation from the federal treasury for "charitable purposes." Mr. Hoover holds himself well in check in face of what must be a strong temptation to speak his mind regarding the conduct of the troublesome senate group, but he makes the situation perfectly clear; and his statement should convince anybody that his position is correct, and wisely sympathetic toward the needy, and that a program for relief work is in far safer hands when he has charge, than it would be if turned over to the tender, political mercies of such men as Caraway and Robinson.

If the senate has any regard for itself, it will now put muzzles on the members of its lunatic fringe, clean up its business and go home. In allowing matters to develop as far as they have gone up to this time, the body has been guilty of a criminal waste of public money and time. It has permitted a few members who seem to lack all sense of shame and public responsibility to be guilty of conduct which is close to traitorous in view of the general condition of the country, and the need for sound, statesmanlike conduct in the legislative body of the nation as a restorative of public confidence. The senate has permitted obstruction of legislation to an extreme which approaches actual betrayal of trust and falseness to oath on the part of consenting or participating members. The body has sat back and allowed dikes that favor of racketeering against the nation. The curtain should be dropped on the act without any more delay. It is an inflection from which the land has a right to be delivered.

We notice that while the French are constantly manufacturing new cabinets they use the old lumber over and over.

ALL of US

SHE REMEMBERED TO SAY THANK YOU

I can't get a young woman out of my mind. A young woman I never saw, never heard anything about until after she was dead.

And all I know about her is what she said, just as she was dying. Just seven words, but they seem to be the finest of all the dying words I've ever heard. So, though I don't know much about her, I'm sure I know enough.

She and some of her family and some friends went forth in a launch into the ocean when the waves were high and troublesome, and they got into difficulties. Two boys on the shore saw their trouble and set out in a little boat to save them, as they struggled in the stormy waters. The boys' boat was upset and they, too, were soon in trouble, but they did the best they could. One boy took this young woman by the arm and started swimming with her to the shore. A wave threw the boy against a rock and hurt his arm and tore the girl away; he could not help her any longer and he could barely save himself.

But he said afterwards that she smiled at him through her pallor and her anguish and her fear and said: "Thank you for trying to save me." It was the end, and she knew it. She was lost with the shore so near and she might easily have thought only of herself and pitied herself and pleaded desperately for rescue. But she remembered that a stranger had tried to save her and though he had failed she owed him thanks, even in the terrible face of death. . . . She had always said thank you—and this was no time for forgetting her manners. . . . So she said: "Thank you for trying to save me," and turned her pale face away into a pitiless green wave and has been seen no more.

I'm selfishly grateful to that brave young woman, and I'd thank her if I could for her politeness, for remembering to say thank you for a favor. Somehow, it seems to me, she saved the faces of all of us with those seven courteous words. By the way she died, she lifted plain living to the mountain tops and made it seem worthy. . . . She died weeks ago, but I haven't been able to get her out of my mind. Nor do I want to forget her. I want to remember those seven words as long as I live, and be reminded of them again and again.

Who doesn't want to feel that way about a deed so simple and so perfect?

What is the correct wording and who is the author of the quotation that begins: "If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door." Mrs. Sarah S. B. Yule credits the quotation to Emerson in her "Borrowings" (1889), asserting that she copied this in her handbook from a lecture delivered by Emerson. The "mouse-trap" quotation was the occasion of a long controversy, owing to Elbert Hubbard's claim to its authorship. Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, managing editor of the standard dictionary, gives the credit to Hubbard.

Why is the nine of diamonds known as the "Curse of Scotland"? One of the various reasons given for the nine of diamonds being called the "Curse of Scotland" is that during the reign of Mary a thief attempted to steal the crown from Elizabeth castle, and succeeded in abstracting nine valuable diamonds. To replace these a heavy tax was laid upon the people, which was termed the curse of Scotland. Another explanation is that when the game of cards was introduced into the court at Holyrood, the nine of diamonds, being the winning card, got the name because of the number of courtiers ruined by the game. Still another is that the Duke of Cumberland wrote his orders at Culloden, where 5,000 Highlanders were overwhelmed, on the back of a nine of diamonds, April 8, 1746.

FIRST FLIGHT

When was the first flight of a heavier-than-air machine made in the United States? On May 6, 1896, for the first time in the United States history, a motor-driven airplane accomplished a sustained flight. The plane was a small model, developed by Professor S. P. Langley, whose later man-carrying planes proved unsuccessful. The first persons to achieve flight in a heavier-than-air machine were the Wright brothers, at Kitty Hawk, N. C., Dec. 17, 1903.

Now, William V. King, the commission's chief accountant, had long contended that the power companies with which Uncle Sam did business were unconscionable "padders."

Accountant King's objections were no especial nuisance at first, because the commission's executive secretary, F. E. Bonner, who practically ran the place then (the three cabinet members being too busy to give it much attention) pooh-poohed them, and Accountant King, while honest, has no reputation as a scrapper; but with Solicitor Russell's advent trouble started, and plenty of it.

The Montanan not only was unmanageable on his own account. He likewise incited the previously only mildly plaintive Accountant King to open mutiny.

How serious the affair quickly became can be judged from the size of the saving to the public ($500,000,000), spoken of on the senate floor.

To effect this economy, Accountant King furnished the figures and Solicitor Russell the pugnacity. Of the $500,000,000, as explained by Senator Norris of Nebraska, $100,000,000 was represented by the deflation of investment records which various power corporations already had submitted for the commission's OK; the balance was represented by putting in, pending a more favorable opportunity—so said Senator Norris.

In a fashion, it was Russell, himself, who wrought his own undoing. He argued that cabinet members had too much work, as cabinet members to be power commission. He also insisted that there ought to be an independent commission; drafted a bill for one and was

ANOTHER CHINESE PUZZLE!

RUSSELL IN HARD LUCK AFTER LOSING HIS JOB ON POWER COMMISSION

—CHARLES P. STEWART—

WASHINGTON.—Charles A. Russell was referred to recently in the senate, by several of its members, as having saved the American public $500,000,000. They added that he was fired for doing it. That he is still out of a job and in hard luck was not mentioned, but he is.

In fact, Russell's case is not one to encourage Uncle Sam's hired men to go to the mat for their boss. Fraze from progressive sources is all right, as far as it goes, but it pays no grocery bills.

Charles A. Russell formerly was a Montana lawyer. He entered the government's service a few years ago on the interstate commerce commission's legal staff. Proving exceptionally capable, he subsequently was made solicitor for the original federal power commission, consisting of the secretaries of war, the interior and agriculture, in connection with their cabinet duties. He was highly efficient in this position, but, presently it began to be complained that he was unmanageable.

To make the situation clear: Whenever a private outfit secured the right to develop a government power site, part of the commission's work was to check over the concern's report of its investments in the property, to prevent "padding." This was on the theory that rates to power consumers ought to yield fair dividends on the amount of money actually put into the generating plant, but not on a lot of money that never was spent on it except as a mere matter of book-keeping. Furthermore, should the government some time wish to acquire one or another of these plants, naturally it will not want to pay for it on a "padded" basis.

Now, William V. King, the commission's chief accountant, had long contended that the power companies with which Uncle Sam did business were unconscionable "padders." Accountant King's objections were no especial nuisance at first, because the commission's executive secretary, F. E. Bonner, who practically ran the place then (the three cabinet members being too busy to give it much attention) pooh-poohed them, and Accountant King, while honest, has no reputation as a scrapper; but with Solicitor Russell's advent trouble started, and plenty of it.

The Montanan not only was unmanageable on his own account. He likewise incited the previously only mildly plaintive Accountant King to open mutiny.

How serious the affair quickly became can be judged from the size of the saving to the public ($500,000,000), spoken of on the senate floor.

To effect this economy, Accountant King furnished the figures and Solicitor Russell the pugnacity. Of the $500,000,000, as explained by Senator Norris of Nebraska, $100,000,000 was represented by the deflation of investment records which various power corporations already had submitted for the commission's OK; the balance was represented by putting in, pending a more favorable opportunity—so said Senator Norris.

In a fashion, it was Russell, himself, who wrought his own undoing. He argued that cabinet members had too much work, as cabinet members to be power commission. He also insisted that there ought to be an independent commission; drafted a bill for one and was largely instrumental in getting it through congress.

Whereupon President Hoover appointed Dr. George Otis Smith, as chairman, and Marcel Garsaud, Claude L. Draper, Frank R. McNinch and Ralph B. Williamson, as associate members of the new board; and Chairman Smith and Commissioners Garsaud and Draper, meeting in hot haste, without waiting for the others, as their first act dismissed Accountant King, Secretary Bonner and Solicitor Russell, without benefit of clergy—after which they hired King back, for he had been no formidable pest until Russell gained an influence over him, and Secretary of the Interior Wilbur gave Bonner a better-paid job in the reclamation service.

But as for Russell? He remains out in the cold, believe me. The unfortunate feature of it (if one sympathizes with Russell) is that the Montanan is financially a poor man.

He had business difficulties in his home state before he came to Washington, and, by rigorous pinching, was paying off his debts out of his meager salary from the government. Now he hasn't even got that. Sound judgment should have warned him not to antagonize the power people.

It is true enough that the senate is so resentful at his dismissal that it is trying to take Chairman Smith's and Commissioners Garsaud's and Draper's positions away from them, by means of a lawsuit—but think of selling apples until the supreme court decides that case—even if the senate wins it.

The power rumpus really dates from about three years back, when Senator Walsh of Montana demanded a senate investigation of the power "interests." The latter preferred an inquiry by the federal trade commission, which it generally has agreed President Coolidge had made over so scientifically that a whitewash brush was the only implement it knew how to handle.

After a desperate struggle the commission did, indeed, get the "probe."

To the amazement of everyone, it jabbled it into the power "interests" very vitals, stirring and lacerating them to an extent which has made power the national issue it is today.

Busy, the Black Ant, had a way with her. She convinced the sentinel. "If you vouch for the strange creature you have with you, it is all right with me," declared the sentinel. "Forward march, comrades! Out with the two of you!" Sentinel stepped back, and into the fresh air and sunshine stepped Busy and the boy. Without saying a word to each other, the two hurried away from the entrance at fast as they could go. When Peter looked over his shoulder, the sentinel had disappeared in the underground passage.

"She hasn't gone far," remarked Busy, reading the boy's thoughts. "She's just keeping out of sight to pounce upon anybody she thinks has no business entering the tunnel."

"Where do we go from here?" asked Peter. At the words, Busy, the Black Ant, stopped short in her tracks.

"To tell the truth, where I go you can't come," said she. "You see, it's like this. I am making straight for my own people who are working as hard as beavers to build a new home. If I should bring you along, they would find you so interesting that it would take their minds off their business. That would never do. They need every moment they have to give to hard work. Before long the night is coming, and when twilight falls we must have safe shelter from the mists and the fierce birds and insects that roam the meadows in search of prey. No ant's life is safe in the shadows. In fact, if an ant stays out too late she is afraid to go home in the dark and hides under a leaf until dawn comes. Nor can she sleep, but shivers and shakes with fear the whole night through."

Canners Make Effort

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Raw tomatoes contain nearly one per cent of protein, half of one per cent of fat, and nearly four per cent of carbohydrate. They contain vitamins A (linked to the fat), B and C.

In preparing food for commercial canning, great efforts are being made by manufacturers to prevent loss or destruction of the essential features of the product. Especially they have made elaborate precautions to preserve the vitamin content, and have undertaken studies to show whether canned foods contain vitamins or not.

The methods used to keep vitamins in canned foods are several. First the foods are processed in as fresh a state as possible. They are often started on the process for canning in a fresher state than when cooking is begun in your kitchen. There is some loss of vitamin in fruits and vegetables when they are allowed to stand, especially if they are peeled.

More important is the prevention of oxidation during the cooking process. Heating itself does not seem to destroy vitamins, but heating when air, or strictly speaking when oxygen is present, is destructive. During commercial canning processes the air is removed from the small spaces in the fruits and vegetables by putting them in a vacuum.

The result of this processing on tomatoes shows that canned tomatoes have one and two-tenths per cent of protein, twenty per cent of fat and four per cent of carbohydrate. Canned tomatoes have as much vitamin A as raw tomatoes, less vitamin B, and as much vitamin C.

Tomato juice, lately so popular, does not apparently resist the canning process so well. Several experiments are on record, some of which shows it has lost much of its vitamin C content. Others indicate that it retains a good deal, but none report that it retains as much as the raw product. It is possible to modify the process so that canned tomato juice will not lose any of its vitamin C content, and doubtless manufacturers will introduce such methods, if the habit of using it continues to grow in popularity.

The method of making these studies is feeding experiments on animals. Rats or guinea pigs are used. Every food which might contain vitamin C is eliminated from the animals' food except the canned tomatoes. A certain amount, sufficient to prevent scurvy if the product were raw, is given daily over a long period of time; if no scurvy develops it is assumed no vitamin C was destroyed by the process.

These studies are convincing that canned tomatoes are as nutritious and valuable as raw tomatoes.

Other canned fruit, such as pears, peaches, etc., have also been found to retain their vitamin content under modern conditions of processing canned foods.

Girl Advised To Marry

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I hope you can help me. Do you believe that a certain planet rules you? I read an article that said that anyone born between April 20 and May 20 should marry someone born between those same dates.

"Virginia, I am in love with a man born March 5, and he thinks a lot of me. I don't know where to look or turn. I am so blue to think I love someone this article says to avoid.

"Would you advise me to listen to that article or not? I don't want to break up with this man because he thinks that I do and say is perfect and he will do anything for me. He wants a home and I do too. He isn't a beauty, but it isn't beauty I am caring about. It is the love he has for me. Do you think I am right?"

Absolutely, little sister. The man you love is a great deal older than you, of course, but if your ideals are the same and your tastes similar, and, above all, if you love one another, I certainly would risk marriage with him. Those things count more than anything else in the making of a happy marriage.

Forget about the astrologers, and after you and the boy friend are married, if you happen to disagree, don't decide that they were right and that you really are not mated, but make up your mind that your love for your husband and your constant effort to understand and appreciate him shall help you to make a success of your life together.

I presume I risk the wrath of those who believe sincerely in the predictions of the stars for guidance by saying this, but I earnestly believe it and so advise you.

WORRIED WIFE: I have thought about your problem a good deal and wondered what I could advise. I don't believe you are going to help your husband overcome his fault by letting him think you trust him, when, as a matter of fact, you don't. I think the matter should be talked over very earnestly. He should acknowledge his weakness and know just what is being said about him. He should also be able to see that he has no right to involve this young girl in scandal—which is what will happen if things keep on as you say they are going.

You seem so fair-minded and tolerant that I don't believe he will think you are "jealous-minded," as you say, if you tell him that for the sake of the children, you, himself and the girl, it would be much better if he was careful to always have you present when he is with her, and that she should not be invited to accompany you on trips so frequently. The same rule applies to any girl who comes to the house.

He can't help his nature, but he can help his lack of self-control, and he should for his wife's and children's sake, as well as his own.

BUMFUZZLED: I think it would be perfectly permissible for you to write the boy friend and tell him that your parents no longer object to you going with him. And under the circumstances it is all right for the girl to write the first note after a breakup. The boy should be the one to send the valentine.

BLUE EYES: Maybe you can win the boy's mother over in time. Why not try awhile longer? If you cannot, maybe it would be happier for both of you to quit.

Hot Water Makes Skin Flabby

By GLADYS GLAD

Of the many systems of rejuvenation that have been tested thus far, the "paradise bath" about which I have previously spoken to you is, in my opinion, the simplest. It consists of very fine sprays of water that are played over the entire body, and particularly over those parts of the body where the various glands are located. Its purpose is to stir the circulation, to make the blood course swiftly and strongly through the whole system. For it is neglected and sluggish circulation that makes people grow old.

As an offshoot of this rejuvenation system, a smaller spray has recently been devised for stimulating the circulation of the face. If correctly done, and if the skin is of the type that will accept water treatment without any resultant drying and flaking the treatment can be beneficial. For nimble circulation will give a luminosity, a youthful freshness of coloring to your skin.

However, if the water is run through the spray too rapidly, with too great pressure, so that it amounts to a pounding of the face, the method will prove anything but helpful. It is akin to the pounding of massage for the removal of fat. As a result, the fatty tissues, so important in keeping the facial contours round and youthful, will be broken down, and the skin will sag in wrinkled looseness.

The spray of water should never be permitted to be really hot. If you use extremely hot water, the delicate, elastic facial muscles will grow relaxed and flabby. However, if you wish to use the spray when cleansing your skin, the temperature of the water may be increased to a comfortable warmth. The skin should first be lathered, and the spray of warm water directed on the face until every bit of soap has been removed. Then the temperature of the water should be gradually lowered until it is cool enough to close the pores and counteract the relaxing effects of the warm water.

For women with thick, heavy, oily skins, this procedure may prove beneficial. But it may be too rigorous a measure for the thin, sensitive-skinned woman, and should therefore not be employed indiscriminately.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Skin Disease
V. P. and Peggy: Acne is a cutaneous inflammation and should be attended by a skilled skin specialist or physician. By all means, wear bangs if they become you. Shaving the eyebrows tends to coarsen the hairs.

Reducing
Lorraine: It would be impossible for me to print my methods of reducing the bust and waistline in this brief space. However, the processes are fully outlined in my booklet on "The New Figure."

Cocoa Butter
Big Eyes: I think that you will find cocoa butter more effective for fattening and nourishing starved tissues than the preparation you name. The cocoa butter should be warmed before it is applied.

EDITOR'S NOTE: While it is impossible for Miss Glad to answer beauty questions by mail, she will be happy to send you her pamphlets on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" if you will write her, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the articles on "Care of the Hands and Nails" and "Care of the Feet and Legs," two cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope are required. Personal questions on beauty will be answered through Miss Glad's daily column.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

This will be the second and final installment of a recent article by a Sandusky, O., high school principal forecasting some of the probable changes which may be made in the basketball code for next season in the hope of making games more enjoyable from the standpoint of spectators rooting for the home team to win.

The spectators, it has been discovered, have some very definite ideas to offer in regard to roughness. This, of course, also pertains to slowing up the game.

"The average fan," the writer has concluded, "seems to take the position that, in case of the home team shoving, tripping, socking with the fist or elbow, the offense be considered by the referee as a refreshing and playful little incident in an otherwise serious game. The game should not be held up by calling a foul. If, however, there happens to be a player on the visiting team (perish the thought) who is guilty of being a little too human and attempts to retaliate, the average crowd thinks that the game is not spoiled by the foul. In fact, they insist on the referee calling it."

"The new rule brought about by the influence of this new element in basketball law making is as follows:

"When a home team player shoves, trips, socks or otherwise manhandles a visitor, no foul will be called unless the visitor is still unconscious at the end of the usual two-minute period.

"If a visitor by bodily contact interferes to the least extent with a home player, a foul allowing three free throws will be called. The offending player will be ejected from the building. (The janitor will get his clothes and throw them out after him)."

"This rule may not be entirely satisfactory but it will cut down much of the discomfort of the fans."

Another practice which is a source of great disturbance is stalling. It is revealed. On this subject the writer has this to say:

"There are at present no rules on the subject of stalling. It seems that it is a great headache when practiced by the local team, and a terrible breach of sportsmanship when the visitors do it. Some very serious situations among the crowds have arisen over this matter. Popular demands will force this new rule."

"If the local team is ahead and there is a period of less than three minutes to be played, they may take the ball to the player's bench and sit down."

"If the visiting team is ahead and they do not take a shot at the basket once every thirty seconds, the game shall be forfeited to the home team, and the five visiting players and their coach shall be confined in the local jail for the remainder of the basketball season."

In conclusion the writer asserts the time has come when the crowd must be considered and that it is thought the above changes in rules will make the game more satisfactory to them. The regulations, he believes, will undoubtedly lessen the chances for serious results due to emotional strain.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—An early setback in the industrial stocks and specialties this morning was followed by another buying rush in the utilities, which swept prices of the active shares 1 to 7 points higher. The copper showed marked improvement in the first hour.

"Terrible Swedes" Could Have Been Worse

BANE ONE GOOD TEAM, Y'BETCHA AND YUST TOO BAD FOR FALCONS

They And Greta Garbo Are Some Swedes, As 34 To 22 Score Proves; Our Boys Shot Often But Too Well, Score Proves

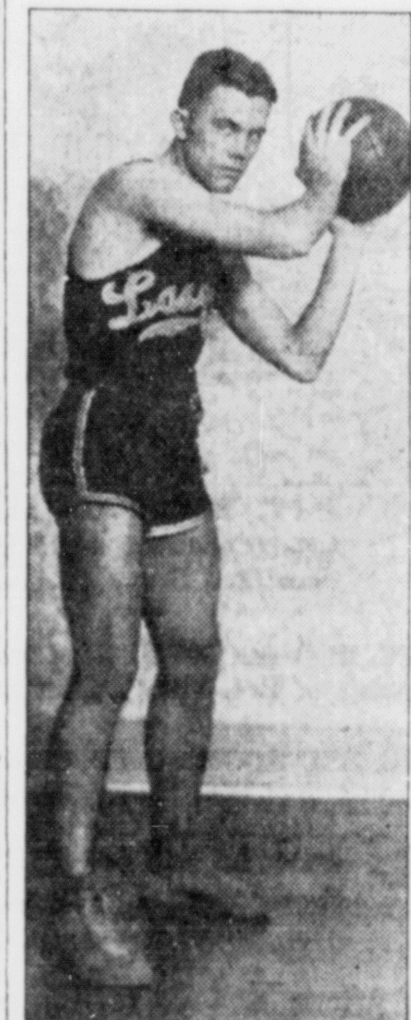

By PHIL FRAME
LSON'S "Too-Terrible" Swedes, world famous traveling professional basketball team, hailing from the "you've-got-to-show-me" state of Missouri, put the Lang Chevrolet Falcons on the "spot" and took the Xenia semi-pro cage team for a ride to the accompanying strains of an easily achieved 34 to 22 victory before a comparatively large gathering of the faithful Tuesday night at Central High gymnasium.

Minus the valuable services of C. M. Olson, high-scoring forward and manager of the club for the last ten years, who became ill Sunday night and returned to Humansville, Mo., for the balance of the season, the so-called Swedish quintet, literally speaking, did take the Xenia five for a buggy ride, giving a classy exhibition of deadly shooting and clever passwork, particularly the back-hand variety for which this celebrated team is especially noted.

The Swedes wasted no time in did not lack shots at the hoop but rolling up a commanding advantage and their margin at one time was 19 to 2, the Falcons scoring five points just before the half ended to make the count 19 to 7 at the intermission. Three straight Falcon baskets just after the second half began whittled the visiting quintet's lead to 19 to 13, but this was as close as the Xenia team got as the Swedes quickly pulled away again. Both teams tallied fifteen points in the last period.

In all fairness the contest would have been much closer had the Falcons been more accurate at hitting the basket. The Xenia cagers

"BULLDOG" SMITH IS COURT STAR

FRED SMITH

Fred "Bulldog" Smith, star center for the Lang Chevrolet Falcons, Xenia semi-pro cage quintet, needs no introduction to local fans, who have seen him play almost everything in the realm of sports from basketball, football, softball and bowling to dominoes.

"Bulldog" is a natural-born, all-around athlete. Although the only prior basketball experience to his credit was acquired on Xenia Central High School teams a few years ago, he blossomed out this season into one of the most important cogs in the Lang Chevrolet basketball machine and few opposing centers have been able to out-play or outscore him. "Bulldog" is the high-scoring member of the Falcon team.

He is equally adept in other sports, particularly football and softball, and if he had the inclination would probably develop into a corking good baseball player. Not only that but he bowls a mean game also.

Bowling

In a match which marked the return of Bill Moorehead, high average bowler of the city last season, to the lineup of the champion Greene County Lumber Co., the leaders of the Recreation League won two out of three games from the Xenia Shoes Tuesday night. Participating in his first league match of the current season, Moorehead rolled a series of 532. He bowled in place of Ben Dice, who missed his first match after rolling sixty games. "Hotie" Brickel had a series of 605 for the league leaders and Davis topped the losers with 562. Box score:

KEEPING IT HOT

Stove League Gossip

The oldest employee of any ball club in point of service died the other day. His name was Arthur Bell and he was working for the New York Giants about five years before any of the present Giant players were born!

And when Bell died he was still an employee of the Giants as superintendent of the Polo grounds.

Bell was brought from Troy, N. Y., to New York when John B. Day purchased the old Troy National league franchise and moved the team to Gotham. That was in 1883.

Bell watched the Giants win their first big league pennant in 1888 and he was on hand when they won their twelfth and last in 1924.

The old veteran saw fifteen managers come and go. He was there when Jim Mutrie took over the managerial reins in 1883 and he was still doing his best to help John McGraw and the boys last summer.

Six presidents came and went during his stay with the New Yorks, but Bell always remained on the payroll.

Though never a big league player, Bell probably served a major league ball club longer than any other man. On the job for the Giants for forty-seven years he was a true iron man, even if his duties were in the front office instead of down there on the green-sward.

HOUSE OF DAVID MEN WILL PLAY CHICAGO GIRLS TEAM SUNDAY

DAYTON, Feb. 11.—The biggest basketball program ever staged in this section of the state will be offered to Miami Valley court fans Sunday afternoon at the local fairgrounds coliseum. Dayton Kells, who represent the Gem City in professional basketball circles, will tangle with the famous Olson's Swedes in one feature game, and the House of David Men will clash with the Chicago Taylor Trunk Girls in the other big engagement. A preliminary between two Dayton girls teams will get the program under way at 2 p. m.

The magnet which will draw what is expected to be the biggest crowd to witness a cage program, here is the men vs. women battle. The House of David crew, which hail from the colony of Benton Harbor, made famous by King Ben and Queen Mary, will appear here with their long beards and longer hair. The hair on these men is so long that they must braid it when playing.

Taylor Trunks will provide plenty of opposition. These girls have won the national girls championship at boys rules six out of the past seven years. They failed only in 1926. The spectacle of seeing a girls team against a male outfit is novel enough, but the fact that the boys have longer hair than girls makes the attraction unique.

"Spit-Tipping Will Go When the Public Realizes It Exists"

Says

DR. JOHN N. RYAN

Health Officer, Passaic, New Jersey

Department of Health
MUNICIPAL BUILDING
PASSAIC, NEW JERSEY

May 21, 1930

American Cigar Company
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York City.

Dear Sirs:

I want the cigar smoking public to be made conscious of the danger to health involved in any unsanitary methods of manufacture. "Spit-tipping" is disgusting and unhealthy. It will go when the public realizes it exists, and it is such a campaign as yours which will bring the public to this realization.

I commend your campaign heartily and wish you well. I have no objection to your publication of this letter, over my signature, if it will help in the good work.

Very Truly Yours,

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Ryan's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Ryan writes: "Spit-tipping" is disgusting and unhealthy."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. AMY MALLOW AFTER WEAKENED BY FALL

Mrs. Amy H. Mallow, 98, widow of S. Moses Mallow, died at the home of her son, G. F. Mallow, Wilmington Pike, Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from infirmities of age. She fell in September and received a fracture of her left hip and had been confined to her room since that time.

Mrs. Mallow was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 30, 1832, the daughter of Hiram and Susan Adair. She came to this country when she was two years old and had always resided in the Maple Corner neighborhood. Her marriage to Mr. Mallow who preceded her in death twenty-six years, took place November 6, 1851. She had made her home with her son for fourteen years. She was a member of the old Maple Corner Reformed Church and although deprived of attending services for many years because of infirmities she had kept up her religious interest.

Besides her son, G. F. Mallow, at whose home she died, she is survived by two granddaughters and a grandson, Mrs. Frank McIntire and B. F. McKay, New Burlington and Mrs. Donald Cummings, near Xenia. Two great grandsons, Chas. Cummings and Arthur McIntire and a great granddaughter, Miss Mae McKay, also survive. Mrs. Mallow's death is the third in the Mallow family within a few months as her daughter-in-law, Mrs. G. F. Mallow and a granddaughter, Mrs. Opal Ellis, preceded her in death recently.

Funeral services will be held at the home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of the Rev. W. W. Poust, pastor of the First Reformed Church. Burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery, Xenia.

SURVEY OF LITTLE MIAMI IS ORDERED

The House rivers and harbors committee Tuesday afternoon ordered a new survey of the Little Miami River, a stream which passes through Greene County, with a view to navigation improvement, according to dispatches from Washington, D. C.

The action was taken at the request of Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the House, the suggestion being based upon the belief that proper dredging and improvement of the Little Miami will enable industrialists to expand, particularly in the crowded industrial area in the vicinity of Cincinnati, and to use the river in marketing their products.

The new Ford is an economical car to own and drive

Low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation mean a distinct saving to every purchaser

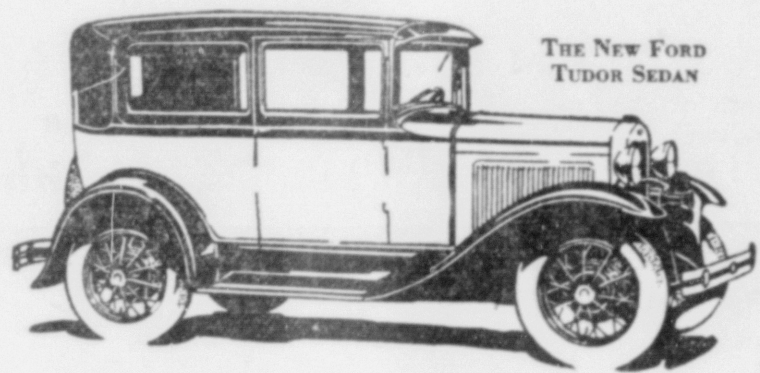

THE NEW FORD is a splendid car to own and drive because of its attractive lines and colors, safety, comfort, speed, reliability and long life.

There are, in addition, three other features of importance to every far-seeing automobile owner . . . low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation.

During the life of the car, the day-by-day economy of owning a Ford will amount to considerably more than the saving on the first cost. You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

The reasons for this economy are simplicity of design, high quality of materials and care in manufacturing and assembling. Many vital parts are made to limits of one one-thousandth of an inch. Some to three ten-thousandths of an inch. Throughout, the new Ford is an outstanding example of fine craftsmanship in automobile engineering.

The more you see of the new Ford—the more you talk to Ford owners and experienced mechanics—the more certain you become of this fact. . . . It brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

TOBACCO CAPITAL VOTES OLD GOLD BEST

Ripley BELIEVE IT or NOT—PROVES IT

RICHMOND AWARDS O.G. BIG VICTORY OVER RIVAL BRANDS

I went down to Richmond, Virginia, the other day. Richmond, one of the nation's capitals in tobacco products, where they know tobacco like Detroit knows motor cars.

I gave 904 Richmond smokers one each of the four leading cigarettes . . . with the names hidden by a black mask.

"Don't try to guess 'em, Richmond!" I said. "Just smoke 'em . . . and pick out the cigarette that tastes best."

It was the same old story. Again, O. G. rolled up a decisive majority vote. Chosen by the world's foremost tobacco town for its superior throat-ease and smoothness.

If that isn't a Supreme Court decision . . . what is?

POPULATION INCREASE BRINGS HIGHER WAGES FOR OFFICIALS

Salaries of eight elective public officials of Greene County as well as members of the board of elections are revised upward to some extent because of a 2,038 increase in the population of the county within the last ten years, as revealed in the 1920 census.

Salary boosts for three public officials — Sheriff John Baughn, Prosecuting Attorney Marcus McCallister and Recorder Leroy Wolf — are now in effect because they assumed office January 1. Prosecutor McCallister receives an increase of $110 from $1,710 to $1,820, the largest increase of any official. The sheriff's income has jumped $82.50 from $1,845 to $1,927.50, while the recorder's annual pay check is raised $73.33 from $1,690 to $1,763.33.

Increase in salaries for the treasurer and auditor will not become effective until present terms expire, the new term for the treasurer beginning in September and that of the auditor on March 8. In accordance with the new population figures, the treasurer's salary will be elevated $27.50 from $2,530 to $2,557.50, and that of the auditor will be increased $72.50 from $2,530 to $2,602.50.

As far as other public officials are concerned, salaries for the surveyor, clerk of courts and probate judge will remain the same this year as last. Their salaries will not be advanced until terms of present holders of these offices expire since the revamping of salaries affects only those officials who were elected after the 1920 census enumeration was completed.

It is also pointed out that members of the board of county commissioners are not eligible to receive increases over present salaries.

Members of the election board will each receive a boost in pay of $24 a year on the basis of $12 more for each 1,000 increase in population of the county.

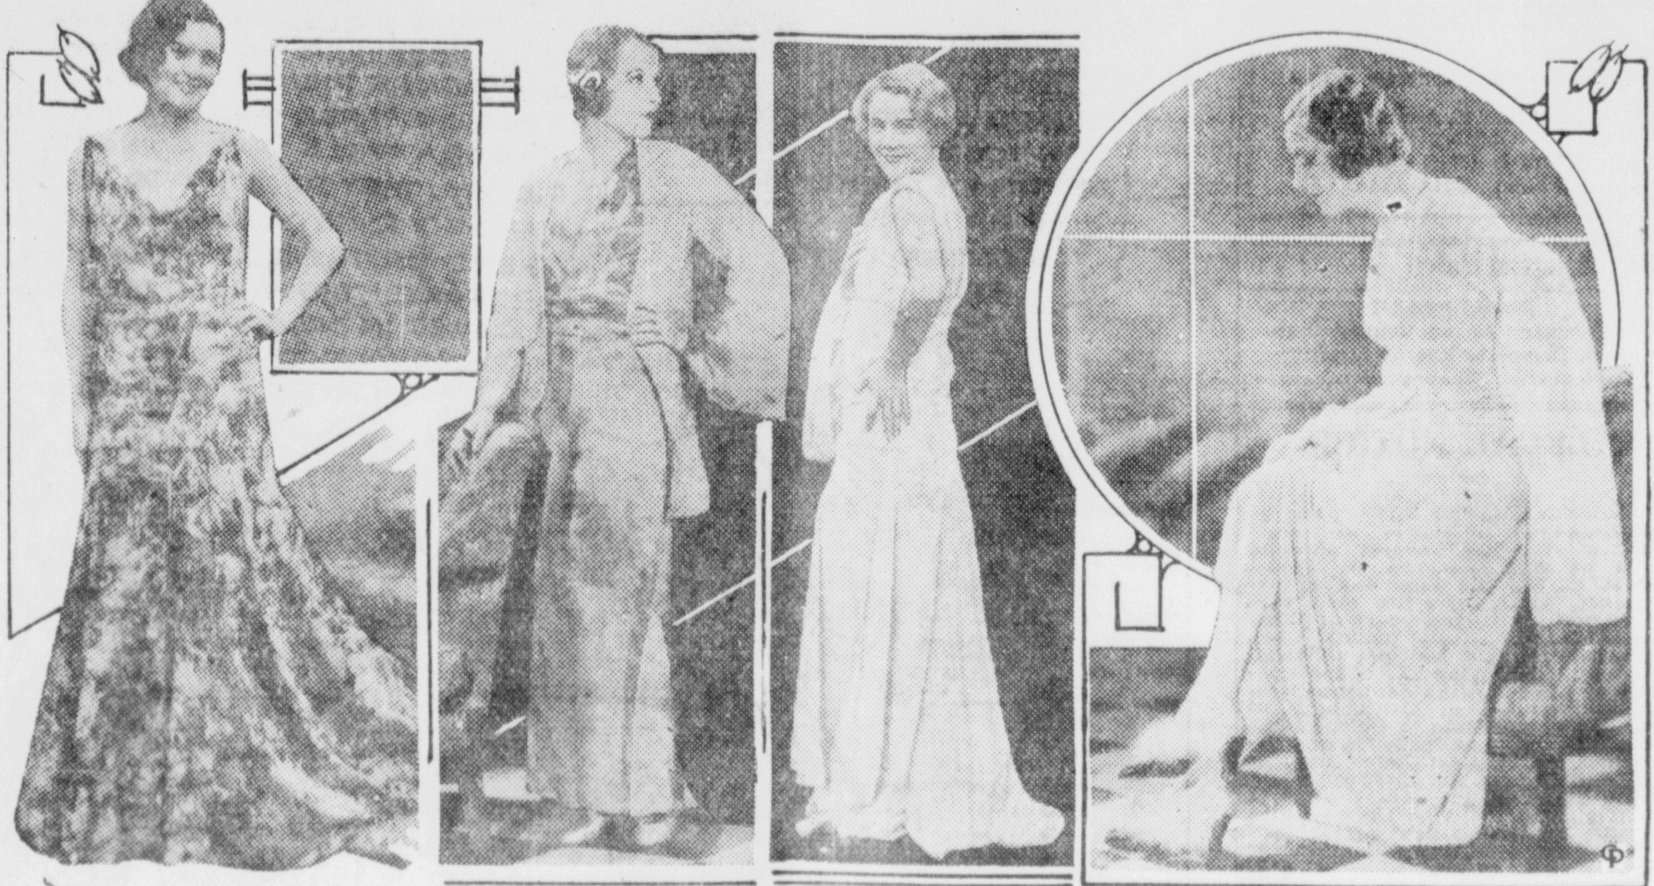

Salaries of virtually all elective county officials are based on population figures and as the population fluctuates the salaries are revamped upward or downward, accordingly. Increases are all based on each 1,000 gain in population.

The 1930 population of Greene County is officially announced at 33,259 as compared with 31,221 in 1920.

A THRILLING MYSTERY STORY by MILES BURTON

RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION—COPYRIGHT, 1930

READ THIS FIRST:

Young Dick Penhamp, friend of the assistant police commissioner, Sir Edric Conway, is put on the trail of the famous Hardway diamond, stolen by Thomas Pollard, a Scotland Yard officer, body has been delivered in a packing case to Sir Edric. Disguised as a down-and-outer, Dick wins the confidence of several suspects. He is looking for a job and the gang tells their boss, who sends for Dick. He is interviewed in a darkened room by a man he can not see and who tentatively hires him. As he is leaving, the man whom he cannot see breaks into a frightful laugh. Dick is in love with Alison Weatherleigh and he does not tell her of his dangerous work. Arriving home Dick is asked to draw a picture of the Hardway diamond necklace for Inspector Pollard, a Scotland Yard officer, who is working independently on the case. Dick gets back into his disguise as Captain Blackwood and returns to Jerry, his companion. The gang leader sends Dick a map with a place marked on it and notifies him to be there at 11:30 p. m. CHAPTER 17

This ruined house must be the place marked on the map, and, after a moment's hesitation, Dick set off along the wall towards it. As he drew nearer, he could see that it had once been a four-roomed cottage, built probably for the accommodation of the wharf keeper. But it had long fallen into disuse. The glass had disappeared from the windows, the roof showed ugly gaps where the slates had slipped and fallen. At last Dick stood looking down upon it. It was a gloom of light greeted him, not a sound disturbed the grave-like silence of the marshes.

Dick clambered down the sloping side of the sea-wall, and walked round the house to the gap where the front door had been. With a shudder of distaste he entered. It was utterly dark within, a darkness charged with the heavy stench of the gases from the refuse heaps, which seemed to have collected here through the ages. A furtive scuttling sounded all round him, and he wondered vaguely what even rats could find to live in this barren spot. And at regular intervals the beams of the beacon shone through the yawning window frame, casting a faint, ghostly radiance on slimy floor and reeking walls.

He took out his torch and threw its rays rapidly round the room. It was bare, empty, stripped of everything that turns a mass of brick and mortar into a home. But there was a doorway leading into a second room, and through this Dick passed. He fancied that his torch was nearly exhausted; he had called upon it too frequently during his journey from Rainham station. The dim light of the beacon was enough to guide him through the doorway and to show him that the faint outline of this second room. It, too, was

The Theater

Katherine Cornell, charming and talented actress, is now also a producer for her "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" of which she is producer while also playing a principal role, opened on Broadway Monday night.

The play is by the Anglo-Dutch dramatist, Rudolph Besier. In 1910 the New Theater produced Mr. Besier's "Don," a comedy, which the critics liked, but to which the public was indifferent. Since then Mr. Besier has been little heard of.

"The Barretts" is the story of two poets in love. There is Elizabeth Barrett, physically failed and spiritually mulcted by the iron father whose unbridled passions have recoiled upon him and forced him to make helpless celibates of his sons and daughters. In the Radio Pictures have assigned Irene Dunn, heroine of "Cimarron," to play the feminine lead in Victor Schertzinger's production of "Marchita." The screen story is being written by Louis Stephens, who recently sold his original "Wild Beauty" to Paramount for Nancy Carroll. Irene Dunn came to Hollywood from Broadway's "Showboat" company.

Robert Woolsey was once a bellhop in a Cincinnati hotel.

dim bed-sitting room lies the imaginary invalid, Elizabeth.

Into this room comes Robert Browning, the poet, and there evolves a romance which culminates when the couple secretly wed and flees the irate father, leaving him still the ferocious Puritan, but utterly beaten.

In spite of popular approval, "The Barretts" met trouble in London where descendants of the original Moulton-Barretts have objected to a play about real people bearing their real names. As a matter of fact the Encyclopedia Britannica records that Barrett refused to let his sons and daughters marry and that he never forgave Elizabeth for her romance with Browning. The play is at the Empire in New York and critics predict for it and Miss Cornell, a warm reception from the public.

Refusal of George Arliss to appear in a scene with twenty-four scantily attired bathing girls led to a minor crisis recently in the filming of his newest talkie, "The Ruling Passion." It took place at a fashionable Pasadena, Calif. home where the Warner company was on location filming a smart afternoon tea party.

In the absence of a pool, the girls, clad in brief bathing suits, were draped around a lily pond. As soon as Arliss saw them, he took exception to Director John
